Mother Earth Festival Sponsor 2011

Stillpoint Farm, an organic farm and community gathering place in Veneta, is honored to host its 2nd Annual Mother Earth Festival on August 20, 2011. Our first festival last year exceeded our expectations with over 500 people attending and rave reviews from everyone. Our projection this year is for 1,000 women, men and children to join us.

Our festival honors, celebrates, and supports women and the Sacred Feminine through music, art, food, produce, and the healing arts. The festival is a family-oriented event held from 10am to 8pm and includes healing workshops and demonstrations, art and music workshops, story telling, multimedia, labyrinth walk, and live music. A closing sunset ceremony will end the event.

Our festival provides a unique community experience for local residents and visitors alike. This event soothes and nurtures through diverse music, original local art, vegetarian food, alternative healing therapies, and fresh local farm produce. Our event is as green as possible and last year we were able to reuse or recycle 90% of materials, in keeping with our goals of sustainability and stewardship of Mother Earth.

Some of the proceeds from the event will benefit The International Council of Thirteen Indigenous Grandmothers, an organization of thirteen elder women from across the globe who educate and support Peace, Health, and Unity. Last year the raffle and Grandmother Booth raised over $6, 000. We are honored that Grandmother Flordemayo, of Mayan ancestry, and one of the Thirteen Grandmothers, will be our keynote speaker.

The International Council of Thirteen Grandmothers fulfills the ancient prophecy foretold by many of the world's indigenous tribes:

"When the Grandmothers from the four directions speak, a new time is coming."
